Cautionary Advice for Students Intending to Pursue Tertiary Studies in China

The attention of this Ministry has been drawn by our Embassy in Beijing to the increasing number of Mauritian students getting involved in drug consumption and/or drug trafficking in China.

The Ministry views this with great concern and strongly cautions potential students intending to pursue higher education studies in China against such drug related activities and underlines the severe punishment they are very likely to incur at the hand of the Chinese authorities as a consequence of engaging in these.
